

Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

In your mind, what does it mean to be “in fellowship” with one another?

Perhaps this term recalls potluck dinners, church events, and time spent in casual friendship, under the banner of a common faith and tradition.

Prior to my final year in seminary, I had never heard of the “Kirkin’ o’ the Tartans.” In fact, before coming here, I had never seen one. Indeed, it is a beautiful sight to behold. This presentation of flags inside the church from many families, tribes, or clans proclaims that we are bound together. It says we are woven and stitched together just like the many colors woven and stitched together in each tartan.

For me, this spoke of our scriptural “fellowship,” far more than a typical church event. Scripture speaks of fellowship as a life in common and by this, it means a shared life, uniting us like family in our whole being. We sometimes limit fellowship to some time we share together and miss fellowship as truly “being together.”

The flags, as they were displayed in the service, put every family in our building on an equal footing as one family in Christ. Yet, if there is one risk, it’s that when we take this tradition across the Atlantic, the Kirkin’ can be perceived as simply a “Scottish” thing.

However, the input of Mary Conner and Rev. Richard Hart re-aligned this moment more closely to its roots by including all heritages of any nation in the presence of God as one. This upholds the true meaning of fellowship in this moment. And what’s more, the plan for a ‘Shelby Presbyterian Tartan’ will further secure that all of us no matter what family or tradition we come from, share in the honor of being called followers of Christ our King.

I am grateful to have been a part of this moment. I want you to hold this moment alongside the confirmation and church retreat in September, with the first communion, baptisms, church picnic on Consecration Sunday, and new member class of October. We can and will build on this, growing closer to one another in our shared life.

There is so much to be thankful for as we head toward Thanksgiving this month. The Spirit is alive and well in this church. My prayer is that we grow in true fellowship of sharing of our lives in worship together, and that we take our shared life out, beyond our walls, to the places where so many need the living community we can offer in and through Christ.

– Drew

P.S.—Thank you for your many expressions of appreciation last month. Since we first arrived in Shelby, we have felt welcomed and appreciated here. Your kind many words, cards and more last month were further confirmation. Thank you.

From the Desk of Carol Ann

Last month, the youth got to experience one of my favorite places- The Virginia Creeper Trail. The Creeper trail is an old railroad path that has been turned into a bike trail. I like it because it is all downhill. I was trying to catch up with some of the youth and was by myself when I noticed the beauty of the leaves. I went to college at App State and was around the mountains during the changing of the leaves and never really paid much attention to them. Maybe I noticed the leaves on the creeper trail because I am getting older and starting to appreciate the little things like leaves changing colors. Maybe I noticed them because of the changes in my life. New denomination, son graduating college, son graduating high school, learning to be an empty nester, making new friends.... Sometimes we think change is not a good thing. We tend to stay in our comfort zone, and we are content. Other times we can't stop it, change is just going to happen.

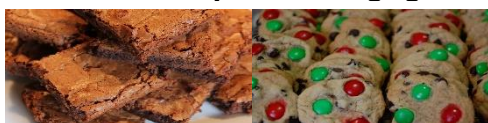

I am a true believer once you get the courage and take the first step to change or accept change, you will see your life as a new opportunity, a new experience.

If you are going through a season of change, God's presence is with you every step of the way. It may be hard, but you have a God who loves you and wants the best for you. God will offer guidance through uncertain times. God is constantly giving us grace upon grace and looks forward to each new season with us. I promise, there is something good in this season. Let's keep trusting God to walk with us in the beautiful leaves and thanking God for the new day ahead and the new grace that comes with it.

If you want your college student to receive a care package, please have the address in by November 6th

From the Desk of Carol Ann

In Advent, we anticipate the coming of Jesus, not only at Christmas, but in our hearts and the church by the Spirit, and his eventual return. Like Lent before Easter, it is a season of mindful preparation where we can grow in prayer and other spiritual exercises with hope, joy, love and peace.

Let's kick off Advent as a community with a workshop from 3-5 p.m. on November 27th where we can come together to learn about Christmas Around the World with stations featuring crafts and food tastings.

This is a great opportunity for all of us, young and old, families and individuals, to grow as one church in fellowship, finding new ways to prepare for Christmas and making things to share with others.

SPC Reports & Minutes

News from Rainbow Connection

Can you believe it's November? It's hard to believe that we are fast approaching the end of 2022! This month we will discuss all of the things we are thankful for, and we will create all kinds of fall art. On November 17th we will have our Thanksgiving Luncheon in the Fellowship Hall. We ask all of our families to donate certain items to create "Cowboy Soup", and everyone eats for free! It is a nice way to really see how everyone can come together for one meal.

Some of us sit around a table every evening to share our meals, and some of us toss a McDonald's happy meal into the back seat to our youngest... while we drive 20 minutes to get their sibling from soccer. Whether you are the parent that spends hours on supper, or the parent that forgot to take the chicken out- we can always remind our little ones about being thankful.

Thankful for the clean water, thankful for the frozen chicken, thankful for McDonald's, and thankful for each other.

We are also so thankful for our SPC community for all of the wonderful things they do for us at Rainbow Connection,

*Let them give thanks to the Lord
for his unfailing love
and his wonderful deeds for mankind.
(Psalm 107:21)*

- Abby Goins, Director

THANK YOU SPC for all you support, love, and prayers. We appreciate you all so much!

FOURTH QUARTER DONATIONS: As we come to the end of the year (believe it or not), we are looking out for any "end-of-the-year" donations from stocks. If you give in this way, please arrange for those donations to be in the office before Christmas or immediately after. That would be very helpful. The office will be closed for Christmas, Monday 12/26 and Tuesday 12/27. Thank you for your cooperation.
